

A World Free of Child Labour

GoodWeave

— a nonprofit organisation founded in 1994 by Nobel laureate Kailash Satyarthi — is the leading international institution working to stop child labour in global supply chains through a market-based system and holistic approach. We partner with companies and local producer communities to bring visibility to hidden supply chains; protect workers' rights; provide assurance that products are free of child, forced and bonded labour; and restore childhoods.

GoodWeave works with over 420 partner companies in 22 countries including major retailers, brands and suppliers. GoodWeave has certified more than 33 million rug and home textile products as child labour free and has supported over 44,000 children through rescue, rehabilitation and education.

Provides Assurance

The GoodWeave label offers the best assurance the product you purchase is made free from child, forced and bonded labor. The sale of GoodWeave certified products also creates a brighter future for children – from funding a daycare in Nepal to building a Child Friendly Community in India. Look for the label on rug and home textile products.

Restores Childhood

Nirmala was born to a poor family in Nepal. To relieve her parents' financial burden, she ran away to Kathmandu to work in a rug factory. After being subjected to harsh work, without earning a single rupee, a GoodWeave inspector found Nirmala and brought her to the GoodWeave transit home for rescued children. Rajendra, a GoodWeave social worker, remembers her early days at the centre, "We were focused on making her laugh and play at that time. After three months, she came back to normal."

Rescued when she was 10 years old, Nirmala was then able to focus on her studies and in 2021 she graduated from the Laboratory School, a leading private high school in Nepal. Watch her story at <https://bit.ly/3wByRd1>.

GoodWeave works to stop child labour in global supply chains.

The GoodWeave® certification label is your best assurance the rugs and home textiles you purchase are made free from child, forced and bonded labour, and that a percentage of the purchase price is invested in programmes that educate children and improve working conditions for adults in producer communities.

For more information, visit GoodWeave.org.

Photo credits: The Studio_M, Nitin Gera, Wendy Morrison Designs, and Jamieson Cox.