Form 990, Part III, Line 4a: Harness Market Forces:

By establishing partnerships with brands and retailers, and increasing consumer preference for certified products, the organization is able to inspect more supply chains and protect more children. Efforts within the "Harness Market Power" category include building corporate partnerships and consumer awareness activities that increase market adoption of child-labor-free products in North America, Europe, and other consumer markets worldwide.

GoodWeave inspects the production supply chains of participating manufacturers and importers. To be certified and thus eligible to display the GoodWeave label, manufactures sign a legally binding agreement to: (1) Produce products free from child, forced, and bonded labor; (2) Register all production sites with GoodWeave and allow random, unannounced inspections; and (3) Pay license fees that support restoring freedom to children, rehabilitation, and education in India and Nepal.

In 2023, carpet, home textile, and apparel programming resulted in new import and retail companies in several countries joining, bringing the total number of importer licensees globally to 203. This year 25.6% of the global market for handmade rugs carried the GoodWeave certification label.

GoodWeave also continued a project funded by the Netherlands Enterprise Agency's (RVO) Fund Against Child Labor (FBK). The project entitled

"Child Labor Free Supply Chains - Deep Due Diligence for Dutch Companies" supports GoodWeave's work to eliminate child labor in carpet supply chains in India and Nepal, as well as an expanded effort to grow GoodWeave's presence in the Dutch market.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b: ESTABLISH TRANSPARENT AND CLEAN SUPPLY CHAINS: In 2023, GoodWeave restored freedom to 756 children across all program categories.

Every child found is offered rehabilitation, counseling services, schooling and other critical services. In addition - and this is the most powerful point of impact - unannounced, random inspections of workshops, factories, and private homes in artisan and producer villages prevent thousands of children from ever being exploited.

GoodWeave was a ISEAL Code Compliant member in 2023. Our system has been independently evaluated against ISEAL's Codes of Good Practice -- a globally recognized framework for effective, credible sustainability systems.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c: Create Educational Opportunities for Children: These programs are designed with input from survivors and those proximate to community needs in order to serve survivors of child labor and/or address the root causes of such abuse.

GoodWeave restores freedom to children being exploited and reunites them with their families whenever possible. Rehabilitation can take years and includes psychological counseling in addition to health care

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d, Other Program Services:

Other Programs:

Improve Conditions for all Workers and Promote Best Practice:

Addressing child labor effectively requires more than simply prohibiting the practice as a matter of law, policy, or standard. One important part of the equation is ensuring that adult workers are better compensated and better treated within their workplaces.

GoodWeave seeks to improve conditions for workers, and in 2023, extended rights and a range of other services - such as health and financial literacy through its programming in supply chains - to 117,817 workers.

The organization also conducts advocacy, promotes best practices, and builds capacity within other organizations based on our model.

Additionally, we conduct research and serve as a thought leader to help inform and educate companies, governments, and other supply chain actors about how to address child labor and its root causes effectively.

In 2023, GoodWeave continued to participate in numerous high-level events and advocacy platforms to promote the importance of ending child labor and modern slavery through deep due diligence practices that include full supply chain mapping, application of strong human rights standards, ensuring remedy to rights holders, and addressing root causes. These included speaking roles or side events at conferences such as the United Nations Business and Human Rights Forum in Geneva.

In 2023, GoodWeave also made progress on a four-year project funded by FBK entitled "Child Labor in Subcontracted Ready-Made Garment Supply Chains in Bangladesh: From impact assessment to holistic due diligence." Partnering with apparel brands C&A and Delta Galil, as well as the Bangladesh Labor Foundation, the goal is to research the presence, risk, and root causes of child labor in subcontracted ready-made-garment (RMG) supply chains in Bangladesh.

In 2023, GoodWeave concluded its long-standing collaboration with Humanity United and Global Fairness Initiative on the Better Brick Nepal (BBN) program, transferring our methodologies to the brick-making sector in Nepal where the rate of forced and child labor is staggering. GoodWeave achieved significant progress establishing sustainable structures and building the capacity of key stakeholders to ensure that good labor practices are demonstrated and spread throughout the brick industry, and that the positive impacts of the program continue beyond the close of the project.

The Board of Directors and management monitor this process and, in general, no business transactions (purchase of goods or services, loans, etc.) with Board members or their employers are permitted other than the normal transactions between a nonprofit and its Board members such as contributions and payment of program service revenue to the organization for participation in various programs.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15:

The compensation of the President is established by the Board of Directors, who are independent of the President. The compensation level for the President is established by the Board of Directors based on knowledge of current salary levels for executives of similar organizations, performance of the President, and budgetary constraints. As a result, the salary levels trend towards amounts lower than current market levels in the Washington, DC metropolitan area might indicate. Notification of any change in the President's salary is made to the organization's third party accountant by an officer of the Board of Directors.
